My career

Attracted by the informatic technology since my young years, I discovered most of the coding concepts as a self-taught coder, with some practice, I acquired the basics to begin to write my own lines of codes.
A part of my practice was on CodeCademy.
I did a training at PopSchool to be in a great environment to learn and study even further in the web devlopment, whether it is for the front-end or back-end part. Next ? Improve in the industry !
